A group of children are participating in a tree-planting activity in a park. One child in a grey shirt and checkered pants is using a blue shovel to dig the soil around a newly planted sapling. Another child in an orange shirt and blue shorts is also working on the soil. A third child with long dark hair is in the foreground, looking down at the ground. In the background, an adult in a black t-shirt is standing, and other children are visible further away. The scene is outdoors with trees and a wooden fence in the background.

A group of children are gathered in a wooded area, engaged in a hands-on activity. They are using blue-handled tools, possibly small shovels or probes, to dig into the dark, moist soil. The children are dressed in casual clothing like t-shirts and shorts. The ground is covered with fallen brown leaves, and the background shows the trunks of trees and green foliage, suggesting a forest setting.
